

The English week

I am going to write about the English week. I think the week with Harry was very good. I found it especially interesting that he lived in Szombathely a long time, which is the home town of my mother. Now he lives in Fürstenfeld which is next to Loipersdorf where my father lives. The week was useful for everybody because we could speak a lot without fear of making mistakes. Besides we did many interesting games for example „Simon says” and sang a lot of. Harry told us about his life as a basketball player, as an English teacher and as a policeman. I would like this lucky life, that Harry has. He had a fantastic asense of humor and he was always cheerful. The best thing about this week was that we did not notice that we were learning. During the week we had to compete in groups. Every group tried to win but at the end of the project everybody got some chocolate from Chicago as reward.

I would be happy to have another English week!

Our English week with Harry Bell

Our English week was perfect! Our teacher was a really nice and funny guy! His name was Harry Bell and he came from Chicago, America. He used to be a professional basketball player and in America he worked for the police. We had a lot of fun with him and we did not even feel that we were learning a foreign language, because we were not shy and afraid to speak English and make mistakes with him. Harry told us a lot of exciting stories about when he was a policeman or when he first arrived to Hungary or Austria. At the end of this beautiful week we made a presentation about the English alphabet. Everyone got a letter and we had to present it by talking about a word which started with that letter. My letter was D and it stood for the famous company called Disney. If I have to say just one word about that week it was awesome. I enjoyed it very much and I would do it again anytime, of course with Harry. I was thinking a lot about this week and at the end I just can say thank you to our teacher Mr. Ertl because without him I would not have a new friend from America. He organized this whole project for us and he worked a lot to make we have fun. This project helped us a lot to work in teams and not being shy about saying our opinion loudly about things in English in.

The English Week

The English week was great. Harry is a genuinely cool person. He is a cool guy. What I liked the best about his teaching was that no one felt left out. Nobody felt that making a mistake was bad. I'm still trying to figure out why. Maybe because he acted so casually, like we've known each other for a long time. Since we are a very competitive class it was also nice that we had a competition the whole week. We were competing for a type of chocolate called Reese's. It is a typical American chocolate. We all worked together in groups.

The group names were:

The Black Giraffes - that's us: Gábor, Ryan, Sofi, Guszti, Annabella and me.

The Goofy Gangsters: Dóri, Ádi, Martin, Kata

The Black Shadows: Vera, Felix, Vivi, Ákos

How I met your English teacher: Gergő, Míra, Áron, Lilian

The Koala babies: Lili, Dénes, Severin, Betti
